ELLE DECOR'S 2013 A-LIST

ELLE DECOR's A-List is our fourth annual salute to the country's top talents—designers who continue to excite, inspire, and intrigue us. Plus, we're pleased to feature 10 new members whose work we have been following with pleasure. Plus, see who made our A-List in 2010 (plus five up-and-coming designers), in 2011 (as well as five more promising young decorators), in 2012, and our list of Grand Masters.

KRISTEN BUCKINGHAM

Los Angeles–based Kristen Buckingham discovered her passion for design while working on a dream home for her family (she and husband Lindsey Buckingham, from Fleetwood Mac, have three kids). Her Wallace Neff–inspired house led to decorating an actual Neff homestead for actress Reese Witherspoon, as well as to an eponymous shop along the La Cienega design corridor, where she showcases antiques and modern art, as well as her line of bespoke furniture.

"Everything I gravitate toward is traditional at heart but has an edge to it," says Buckingham. "I like things fresh and clean—nothing is worse than a home where no one could possibly be comfortable." kristenbuckingham.com
